Term 2 Week 6

2 June 2020

Welcome to Week 6

I trust that everyone enjoyed the extra long weekend, there were several students who thanked me for giving them such a long time out of school.

COVID-19 has brought many things into our lives that has been very difficult however there have been some things that we have gained. Many of you have been able to spend more quality time with your children with the restriction of extra-curricular activities and completing school work at home.

COVID-19 has not gone away and it is only due to the great effort of all Australians that we have been able to keep Australia safe. A key factor in this has been the intensity of cleaning and hygiene practices applied in schools. We continue to clean all high use areas regularly, and encourage frequent handwashing in order to maintain high safety standards.

Children have returned to school with various requirements that were new for them such as social distancing and an ever present need to wash hands. A real change for some children, particularly younger children, has been not having parents on the school site. The one positive to come from this has been the demonstrated independence of the younger children as they have been required to get themselves ready for class.

The good news is that as of next week parents are able to come to school for drop off and pick up. Parents are reminded that social distancing still applies and they are encouraged not to gather around in groups. I would encourage parents to continue to foster children's independence by having them show you how much more they can do since you were last in the room.

Commencing next week, all students in years 1-6 will be completing InCAS Online assessment. This assessment will enable staff to identify the levels students have achieved in Literacy and Numeracy, and will support ongoing whole school and classroom planning. The assessment will be completed every year providing parents with an ongoing report demonstrating levels of improvement over time. Letters outlining this program will be sent home shortly. Please read the information and complete the permission slip.

YEAR 5/6 ART

This term the students have been studying Pablo Picasso as an artist. They have been looking at how he progressed from a classical artist to developing into a cubist artist.

Students have applied Pablo Picasso style of art to form their own portraits.

In keeping with Picasso style, the students produced portraits with strong colours and sharp shapes forming facial features which are placed in unexpected locations.
